Dear Miss Barton,

It is sometimes a great burden, because I average an 12-13 hours work day, but I answer almost 100% of my mail. I am behind schedule on three more books. The only (and a first) edition of WHITEWASH II is enclosed. We are dockering for reprint and are hopeful.

Incidentally, I had four printings of WHITEWASH before it went into reprint. If you should like a first printing (we still have a few) we are, for the moment, selling them at the regular price of $4.95 plus postage. It is without the index and with four fewer pages. We printed extra ones of those on the second printing and can include one free.

The difference on the enclosed book is four dollars.

I spotted the arrest of the man in the Del-Tex Bldg from the police radio logs, which do not, as I recall, give his name. I haven't had time to check it (its a vast amount of additional reading I cannot at this moment take time for. There is no other reference anywhere.

I have forgotten which picture it is you refer to, with the slit ~~XXXXXXXX~~ "causing the men's" hats to set on their ears." Could you remind me, please?

Sincerely,

And thanks for your offer. I'll remember it.
